

When Behavior Is Concerning

Certain behaviors may indicate that your child needs additional support. There are programs accessible through school that can help.

Speak to your school counselor about the Student Assistance Program (SAP)

- SAP is an early intervention program that provides prevention, assessment and screening referrals for behavioral health and substance abuse treatment.
- All youth are eligible to participate.
- SAP requires parent and student (14 or over) consent.
- SAP assessments are done right in your child's school by a professional mental health provider who will refer and help link you to appropriate services in your community. .
